

June 2022

Dear Classes of 2023:

In preparation for next year, please read at least two books over the summer. They are both free-choice, and I will send some ideas to you by June 21 (in case you need suggestions). These must be of your reading level or higher, and you cannot have read them before.

- For the first book, please choose one of the following activities:
 - Create a comic strip that details six important events from the novel. Each box of the comic strip must include an illustration and a two-sentence caption. The title of the book and the name of the author (and of course your name) should appear at the top of the assignment.
 - OR, write an IRP-style book review just like you did at the end of the school year following the same format and expectations.

- For your second book, write a letter as a shared document with me that includes the title and author of the book, a brief summary, and your opinion of the book (2 paragraphs of 5-8 sentences each).

These are due by 8AM on September 6 (the first day of school). You can earn extra credit if you read more than two books (just use one of the formats above). Happy Reading!

Have a great summer!
